Tailandia: El Sector de Envase y Embalaje

ENVASE Y EMBALAJE

CARACTERÍSTICAS DEL SECTOR

Existen más de 2.000 empresas dedicadas al envase y embalaje en Tailandia: cerca de 1.400 dentro de la industria del plástico, 400 en el sector del papel y cartón ondulado, 150 en el sector del metal y 30 en el vidrio. El volumen de producción se divide de la siguiente forma: 40% de papel, 25% plástico, 20% metal y un 15% el vidrio.

Market Share for Packing Types in Thailand 2001

Se trata de un sector en el que las exportaciones están por encima de las importaciones, con lo que Tailandia muestra una balanza comercial positiva en lo que a envase y embalaje se refiere. La importancia del envasado de plástico (más de 12.400 millones de bahts de exportaciones y 5.300 millones de importaciones) desde el punto de vista del valor es muy preeminente sobre los de papel (2.850 millones y 1.668 millones de bahts respectivamente) y vidrio (422 y 351 millones de bahts), en los que los volúmenes de importaciones y exportaciones son relativamente bajos comparados con aquél.

La fabricación tailandesa se centraría en los envases de calidad media y baja, relativos a consumos diarios y productos que no requieren de un envasado con garantías específicas, mientras que una parte de los envases de mayor calidad y adaptados a normativas internacionales utilizados sobre todo en el envase y embalaje de productos destinados a la exportación serían importados.

ENVASE Y EMBALAJE DE PAPEL

Entre los materiales para el envase y embalaje, el papel sigue teniendo una función o importancia significativa. Hoy en día, es observado como un elemento esencial en la vida diaria, muy utilizado en el consumo local con carácter cotidiano.

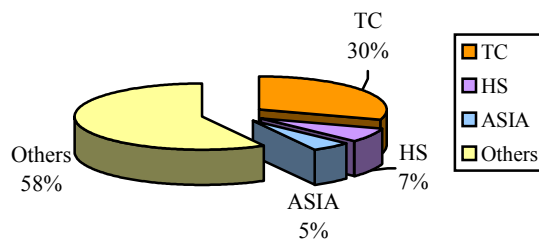

Se fabrican aproximadamente un millón de toneladas de papel al año y su valor es de más de 35.000 millones de bahts. La proporción de venta respecto al resto de envases es del 30% del total de la industria y los tipos de papeles procesados para la obtención de envases son principalmente tres:

Tailandia: El Sector de Envase y Embalaje

1. Papel kraft, papel fuerte, o papel marrón adhesivo están siendo utilizados para su transformación en papel acanalado y muchas capas de bolsas adhesivas y latas de papel.
2. Cartón y papel doble están siendo utilizados para su transformación en cajas de cartón en formato plegable y fijo.
3. Papel reciclado está siendo usado como ingrediente en la fabricación de etiquetas para botellas y latas.

Hay más de 400 fábricas dedicadas al envasado de cartón y papel acanalado, si bien un reducido número de empresas tiene el control del sector.

La industria del papel acanalado ha estado creciendo a unas tasas de aproximadamente el 15% en los últimos años reflejando el crecimiento en las exportaciones industriales. Se ha importado maquinaria de alta tecnología y prácticas con el fin impulsar la capacidad de producción e incrementar la calidad del producto, lo cual se puede apreciar si consideramos el valor medio de las exportaciones en relación con el de las importaciones. Al contrario de lo que ocurre con el resto de envases, el precio medio de los envases de papel exportado es bastante superior al importado (mientras que la exportación de envases pertenecientes a las partidas 481910 y 481920 en el año 2001 eran de 74 y 114 bahts por unidad respectivamente, el valor medio de las exportaciones alcanzaba los 79 y 168 bahts).

Tailandia: El Sector de Envase y Embalaje

En 1999, Tailandia tenía un potencial de fabricación de aproximadamente 3.506.000 toneladas, de las cuales el 55% corresponde al papel kraft, el 28% al papel reciclado, el 7% al cartón y el 10% a otros.

Aproximadamente, 2.234.000 toneladas son requeridas dentro del país. 399.000 toneladas son importadas (17% de las necesidades del país, correspondiendo el 67% de éstas a papeles de otros tipos a los mencionados) y 455.000 toneladas son exportadas (el papel kraft y el papel reciclado suman el 82% de las mismas).

La presencia española es muy reducida y se observa un descenso importante entre los años 2000 y 2001, pasando las importaciones de 880.064 bahts a 239.399 bahts, que apenas llega al 0,001 de las importaciones totales.

La tendencia en el futuro de la industria del envasado de papel no está muy clara y fluctúa de acuerdo a la situación económica del país.

ENVASE Y EMBALAJE DE PLÁSTICO

Debido a sus notables características que exceden otro tipo de materiales como el papel, enlatado, vidrio, etc., tiene un importante papel y está a la vanguardia de la industria del envase y el embalaje. Es el más importante en lo que se refiere a términos de valor. Aunque el nivel de exportaciones supera a las importaciones mostrando una industria con cierta pujanza en el país, el valor de las importaciones es muy elevado, lo que parece indicar que el envase fabricado en el país es de una menor calidad frente a los importados de los principales fabricantes del mundo como pueden ser Japón, Estados Unidos o de algunos países europeos o asiáticos (Holanda, Alemania, Corea, Malasia...). El valor medio de dichas importaciones y exportaciones lo pone de manifiesto: por ejemplo, en lo relativo a envases de polímeros de etileno (partida arancelaria 392321), en el año 2001, las exportaciones tienen un valor medio de 48 bahts por unidad, mientras las importaciones alcanzan los 302 bahts. Este ejemplo se repite también en las distintas partidas arancelarias que conforman el envasado de plástico.

Cerca del 50% de las fábricas del país dedicadas al envase produce bolsas de plástico, sirviendo la mayoría de ellas al mercado nacional. La Thai Packaging Association afirma que el crecimiento anual del envasado de plástico se ha incrementado aproximadamente un 10% en los últimos cinco años, en especial, lo que se refiere a botellas de plástico duro, cajas y botes. En los últimos años, el sector ha estado dominado por los envases de polietileno debido a que los fabricantes han preferido usar recipientes ligeros y flexibles. Este tipo de envases flexibles es el gran dominador con una cuota del 60% aproximadamente, seguido del moldeado por eyección con un 20%. También se trata del tipo de envase más activo en lo que a comercio exterior se refiere, con unas importaciones y exportaciones totales en el año 2001 de 12.477 millones de bahts y 5.364 millones de bahts respectivamente..

Desde un punto de vista del cliente, se podría dividir el envasado de plástico en tres tipos:

1. Envasado de plástico industrial, producido para suministrar a otras fábricas industriales para el envase de productos o recolección de componentes en fabricación o en trabajos de ensamblaje, etc.
2. Envasado de plástico dirigido al consumidor: fabricado por aquéllos que distribuyen comida y productos para el hogar. Su coste es bajo y por ello es la mayoría de los casos es preferible comprarlo y envasar los productos fabricados. Es el preferido para el envase de alimentos y bebidas, existiendo dentro de éste último dos tipos de bolsas para bebidas calientes y frías.
3. Tipos especiales de envases son usados para tareas más complicadas y específicas por su durabilidad frente a la corrosión y su habilidad para soportar altas temperaturas. Su coste es elevado.

Es en este sector en el que España tenía en el año 2000 un mejor papel en términos de valor (15,6 millones de bahts) y cuota de mercado (que sin embargo se queda en un 0,25% del total).

ENVASE Y EMBALAJE DE VIDRIO

Tercer sector en volumen de negocio, tiene unas importaciones y exportaciones totales en el año 2001 de casi 352 y 422 millones de bahts. El valor medio de las importaciones es superior al de las exportaciones, lo cual hace entrever una calidad inferior de los envases producidos en Tailandia, que provoca para determinados usos específicos la necesidad de importar un producto más caro pero de mejor calidad. Dentro de este sector cabe destacar la evolución muy favorable de la exportación española entre los años 2000 y 2001, con exportaciones en el primero de 13.194 bahts y en el segundo de 951.194 bahts que, sin embargo, no suponen más que el 0,3% del total de las importaciones tailandesas.

La demanda de recipientes de vidrio ha aumentado un 10-15% anual en los últimos cinco años. Los principales consumidores industriales son:

- Fabricantes de cerveza: 35%
- Bebidas energéticas: 20%
- Refrescos: 15%
- Whisky: 15%
- Productos alimenticios: 10%
- Productos farmacéuticos: 5%

ENVASADO METÁLICO

Únicamente 10 de un total de 150 empresas que componen este sector se dedican a la fabricación de latas de tamaño grande para comida. Y tan solo tres en el caso de bebidas. El mercado total para el envasado de metal (envases de hojalata, de acero sin estañar y de aluminio) está estimado entre 350.000 y 500.000 toneladas anuales con un valor aproximado de 15-17 billones de bahts.

Los principales clientes son los fabricantes de refrescos Coca-Cola y Pepsi, y los productores de cerveza como Singha o Carlsberg.

El consumo de latas ronda los 3 billones anuales. De éstas, 600 millones son latas en dos piezas de aluminio para cerveza y refrescos. El resto son de hojalata o acero si estañar y se usan fundamentalmente para bebidas de café, frutas y vegetales.

La materia prima supone cerca del 70% del coste de producción. El aluminio es importado sobre todo de Australia y Estados Unidos.

FACTORES DE COMERCIALIZACIÓN

a) Calidad-precio

En general, los principales clientes serán grandes compañías que prioricen la calidad por encima del precio, ya que envases baratos ya están disponibles debido a la producción local (esto se puede ver en los precios medios de las importaciones y exportaciones de todo tipo de envases. Estas empresas serán grandes empresas que suelen exportar a mercados desarrollados y con normativas exigentes o fabricantes con unos determinados estándares de calidad. Para las pequeñas y medianas empresas que abastecen el mercado local el precio es un factor determinante, si bien no renuncian a la calidad, por lo que para poder llegar a este tipo de clientes la relación calidad-precio deberá ser óptima y el precio tendrá que ser en definitiva bastante bajo.

Tailandia: El Sector de Envase y Embalaje

b) Canales de distribución

Algunas grandes empresas adquirirán los envases directamente de los fabricantes extranjeros, pero no es muy habitual y la mayoría de los destinatarios finales preferirán encargar el producto a través de importadores y distribuidores especializados para asegurarse de la fiabilidad del producto y minimizar el tiempo y los trámites para la importación.

Es necesario conseguir un agente adecuado (es quizá una de las tareas más difíciles en todo proyecto de exportación a Tailandia). Debido a la idiosincrasia del país, es necesaria una relación muy estrecha con el agente, que a su vez permitirá un mayor conocimiento del mercado y estar informado ante posibles evoluciones del mismo.

c) Costes

Por lo que respecta a los aranceles aplicables, éstos son muy variados (ver Anexo I), si bien en general todos ellos son bastante elevados (sobre todo los aranceles aplicables a envases de plástico, que alcanzan el 30%), en un intento por parte del gobierno tailandés de proteger la industria tailandesa del envase y embalaje. En el caso de que exista un tipo "ad valorem" y otro específico, por unidad, será aplicable aquél que suponga una mayor cuantía a pagar. Además será aplicable un IVA del 7%.

Los costes del transporte y el seguro corren por cuenta del comprador. El transporte se realizará por barco, ya que el transporte por avión resulta mucho más caro.

c) Guía de actividades promocionales

Sin duda, el factor fundamental de comercialización es la confianza en el producto, una confianza que sólo se puede conseguir mediante contacto y análisis in situ del envase, siendo el medio más eficaz la participación en ferias, de las que PROPAK es sin duda la más destacable dentro del calendario ferial tailandés. Hay que tener en cuenta que se trata de una inversión a largo plazo y que es la única forma de superar el desconocimiento que todavía existe en el país sobre el envase español. Además, se trata de un producto que fácilmente se puede traer a la feria para que los posibles clientes lo puedan valorar.

PROPAK

La edición del pasado año 2001 se celebró en el Queen Sirikit National Convention Center entre los días 13 y 16 de junio de 2001 y fue organizada por el Bangkok Exhibition Services. La oferta presentada fue de equipamiento y tecnología para las industrias del procesamiento de alimentos y de productos farmacéuticos, embotellado, envasado, y empaquetado y etiquetado de todo tipo de materiales y productos finales. Hubo un total de 150 compañías de las cuales un tercio (51) fueron extranjeras. En total había representadas más de 300 empresas internacionales a través de agentes locales. La participación española contó con el Pabellón Nacional que agrupó a 7 empresas del sector así como a la asociación AMEC/ENVASGRAF. Además, hubo otras empresas españolas representadas a través de agente local como: ULMA, S.T.E., ENFLEX y BOSSAR. El pabellón español fue el único pabellón nacional en la feria y destacó tanto por su diseño y disposición como por su organización.

Por lo que respecta a revistas especializadas, éstas pueden ser un complemento de la anterior actividad promocional, pero en ningún caso una forma de introducirse en el mercado de forma aislada. En lo relativo a envases, destacar la revista Asia Pacific Food Industry (también disponible a través de Internet en la dirección: www.apfoodonline.com), en la que se da cabida a todos los aspectos de la industria alimentaria, desde el procesamiento, pasando por el envasado, y acabando por la distribución.

Tailandia: El Sector de Envase y Embalaje

Precisamente en el número de abril de 2002, aparece un artículo muy interesante sobre el envase español titulado “Packing a punch, Spanish packaging comes of age”. Este tipo de artículos, acompañados de la presencia en Propak, puede ser muy interesante y beneficioso para la penetración en los distintos mercados asiáticos y en Tailandia en particular.

POSICIONAMIENTO DE LA OFERTA ESPAÑOLA

Las cifras de importación demuestran un cierto crecimiento de la presencia española en términos relativos, si bien en términos globales la presencia española es todavía muy reducida. Sin duda alguna, los esfuerzos realizados con los Pabellones Nacionales en las dos últimas ediciones de la feria más importante del sector, PROPAK, deben contribuir a un mayor conocimiento de la oferta española.

La opinión más generalizada la sitúa por detrás de gran parte de los envases europeos (alemanes, británicos, holandeses o italianos por ejemplo), con más tradición en este mercado. No obstante, poco a poco la imagen del envase español está cambiando y los esfuerzos de promoción e información, junto con la calidad del producto, pueden hacerle acreedor de una mayor cuota de mercado.

Como ya se ha comentado anteriormente, el principal objetivo del envase importado español debe ser la calidad, con una relación calidad-precio óptima, ya que el envase local siempre tendrá un coste inferior (costes de producción en Tailandia bajos).

ANEXO III

LISTADOS DE IMPORTADORES Y OTRAS EMPRESAS DE INTERÉS

OBSERVACIONES PREVIAS

En primer lugar, se han incorporado los listados de importadores suministrados por el Department of Business Economics del Ministerio de Comercio en función de las partidas arancelarias de interés para la industria española del sector de la maquinaria para la industria alimentaria. Estos listados se corresponden con las empresas que a lo largo del año 2001 importaron productos relacionados con dichas partidas arancelarias, si bien hay que tener en cuenta que el máximo nivel de desarrollo facilitado por los organismos tailandeses es el relativo a seis cifras. Todos aquellos datos no facilitados se deben al hecho de que el organismo anteriormente citado facilita los listados en tailandés y muy incompletos. En ningún caso se facilitaron datos relativos a fax o códigos postales, básicos para poder intentar un contacto comercial. No obstante, con ayuda del personal tailandés de la Oficina Comercial se ha intentado perfeccionar al máximo estos listados, completos en cerca del 80%. Como se podrá observar, estos listados incluyen tanto empresas dedicadas a la importación como usuarios finales que por su volumen de negocio suelen realizar las importaciones directamente.

En segundo lugar se pueden encontrar listados provenientes de las bases de datos de la Oficina Comercial y otros obtenidos durante la realización de este estudio que se han considerado de interés para la industria, como puede ser un listado de fabricantes de conservas de frutas por ejemplo.

En definitiva, muchas empresas aparecerán repetidas a lo largo de estos listados debido a que su actividad puede abarcar distintos tipos de maquinaria o productos, pero en todo caso se ha intentado facilitar el máximo de información para incrementar las posibilidades de éxito en la búsqueda de clientes en el mercado tailandés.

ANEXO IV

DIEZ CONSEJOS GENERALES PARA HACER NEGOCIOS EN TAILANDIA

1. Apunte a los cargos superiores y prepare sus reuniones con anticipación suficiente (semanas), reconfirmando si es posible el día anterior. Las reuniones se tienen típicamente a las 10 horas o a las 14 horas. El almuerzo se inicia sobre las 12 horas y la cena se hace a las 19 horas. Es recomendable tomar relajadamente una copa después de la cena.
2. Lleve tarjetas de negocios abundantes, así como información de su empresa en inglés. La vestimenta correcta y conservadora refleja status y seriedad de intenciones. Puede entregar regalos (no caros) de empresa.
3. En la presentación de su empresa hable despacio y claro (la parte Thai puede necesitar tiempo para la traducción mental). Comentar, en su caso, las actividades de su empresa en Asia. No mostrar divisiones internas, que se perciben como contrarias al principio de armonía de grupo. Escuche y no interrumpa.
4. Evite que la parte Thai “pierda la cara”. Puede fácilmente constituir un movimiento irreversible en sus negocios.
5. Evite demostraciones de impaciencia, enfado o frustración, que puedan crear situaciones incómodas. Procure mostrarse calmado.
6. Exponga sus condiciones, requisitos o dudas de forma impersonal, pero comunicandolos claramente de principio a final, punto por punto. Conviene ser algo flexible especialmente en materia de precio.
7. Al formalizar su contrato (es necesario) sea preciso en cuestiones esenciales como temas financieros, plazos y estándares, pero sea flexible en aspectos no esenciales.
8. Una vez establecida una relación comercial facilite material promocional e invite a la parte Thai a comunicarle la evolución del negocio incluídas las malas noticias. Conteste con rapidez a sus preguntas o demandas.
9. Desarrolle relaciones personales con la parte Thai, visitando con cierta frecuencia para desarrollar confianza entre ambas partes.
10. Conozca algunas cuestiones culturales básicas como el respeto total a la monarquía que siente la población Thai, o evitar apuntar con el pie a alguien, la utilización del primer nombre (no el apellido) en las relaciones personales, y algunas palabras (saludos, gracias, etc...).
